

The Marrocan Barn

© Bathilde Meillerais Teschke

Marroco came to Potsdam.

Self-made sofas remind the marrocan seating arrangements in the middle east. Topped with wool blankets and authentic cushions from marroco makes it particularly comfortable.

Plastered walls bejewel this house..

Secret Gardens

The charming facade of the house is adorned with vibrant ivy crawling up its walls. The idyllic scene reminiscent of a country cottage, provides a sense of nature, warmth and serenity. The fountain enhances the serenity.

A serene backdrop provides a picturesque view inviting visitors to sit and enjoy the tranquility of the surroundings. The brilliant hues of the flowers create an enchanting contrast against the natural wooden texture of the bench.

The small backyard is enveloped by a natural landscape and features a combination of elements such as a wooden bench and a brick patio. The seating area provides a cozy setting of tranquility where you can have beautiful moments and outdoor activities with others.

Anne Meillerais

Anne Meillerais has been an Dipl. Ing. architect for 35 years and has practiced all over Europe and USA. She is french and currently living in Berlin. However, she has been doing interior design and fashion with a passion as long as she can remember. The first time she redesigned a home, she was as young as 14 years old when her parents trusted her with the design of their home. It was in the privacy of her room in a little town in rural France that she was creating her own clothes at 12 years old. Today, she uses her talents to crafts and reinvents her own furniture, fashion pieces which makes everything she touches a uniquely beautiful place to live in and with.

Her flavor is inspired not only by her french background and the Berlin-vibes, but also by the 30+ countries she has experienced and reinvents it in a new environment. Anne Meillerais is synonymous with personality, warmth, uniqueness and mostly reinvention - we call it Re-looking.

This Chapter is called Steel Ethnicity because this was a designed home where Anne Meillerais mixed modern styles such as steel, different colors, textures and incorporated ethnic pieces from all over the world.
